

THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS.

VOL. LVI.

JUNE, A.D. 1891.

No. 6.

ABSTRACT OF PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS

AT ITS MEETING, TUESDAY, MAY 12TH, 1891.

— THE following elected members were present : The Right Rev. Dr. Scarborough ; the Rev. Drs. Hoffman, Reese, Shipman, Huntington and Brown ; and Messrs. Vanderbilt, Low, King and Chauncey. The Rev. Dr. Hoffman was called to the chair.

— The General Secretary reported that Bishop Bedell had placed in his hands, during the previous week, a check for $2,000 and three bonds, each $1,000, of the Lake View Cemetery Association, of Cleveland, Ohio, all to be used for Foreign Missions in the discretion of the Secretary. This sum comes from the estate of Bishop Bedell's mother. The Board made a cordial expression of its appreciation of the gift.

— It was further reported that the General Secretary took part in the services at the ordination to the Priesthood of the Rev. Jules L. Prevost, which were held in the chapel of the Philadelphia Divinity School on April 29th. Mr. Prevost left Philadelphia for his work in Alaska on May 6th. He has been heard from in San Francisco.

— Letters were received from several of the Bishops in the United States having missionary work in their jurisdictions, with regard to appointments, etc., and necessary action was taken.

— Letters were submitted from Bishop Hare, in Japan, the Standing Committee of the Missionary Jurisdiction of Yedo, and from Bishop Boone and several of the missionaries in China and Japan. Bishop Hare's letters and portions of the others referred to have been published, or will be published in this number.

— At the suggestion of Bishop Boone the Board passed a resolution requesting Bishop C. M. Williams and Bishop Hare to visit China, for the purpose of attending the proposed conference of Bishops in China, Corea and Japan, to be held at St. John's College, Shanghai, during the month of October next. The proposition for this conference came originally from the English Bishops in Corea and Japan. Many questions of common interest relating to the missionary work in the countries named will be discussed.

— Letters were received from Bishop Ferguson, of Cape Palmas, announcing the serious illness of the Rev. M. P. K. Valentine, of Cuttington, and the Rev. O. E. H. Shannon, of Cape Mount. The Bishop is endeavoring to make arrangements to send these clergymen to Sierre Leone or Madeira for treatment, and the Board has provided for their expenses. Mrs. Brierley writes from Cape Mount that, with the approval of the Bishop, she has employed Miss Nicol, a granddaughter of Bishop Crowther, of the Niger mission, as an assistant and was looking for her early arrival. Miss Nicol was educated in England.

— Letters from Bishop Holly dwell at length upon severe financial straits which they have been experiencing in Haiti and which interfere materially with local contributions for the proposed church buildings.

OUR FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS.

THE appropriations for this fiscal year, which will close August 31st, amount to $430,499.54. The contributions to this date (May 26th) are $283,287.78, or $16,270.23 more than at the same time last year, and the receipts from legacies which may be applied to meet the appropriations are $31,295.90, or $4,665.31 less than at the same time last year, making the total of receipts $314,583.68. There is still required $115,915.86 to be received before August 31st. The ordinary receipts of the three summer months have been about $50,000. It is therefore manifest that in order to redeem the Church's pledges for the year there must needs be very many liberal gifts. Do our people all understand that this Board of Missions, acting for the whole Church, provides the salaries for sixteen Bishops and stipends for 1,000 missionary workers, besides maintaining schools, hospitals and orphanages? If the magnitude of the work and its great urgency, as God's mercy to the souls and bodies of multitudes, are fully realized, how can the needed money be withheld?

CARRY THE WORK FORWARD.

THE Church's mission is to save the world, to preach the Gospel to every creature, to make disciples of all nations, to evangelize all whom Christ hath redeemed. For this work the Church is divinely equipped and commissioned. No less than this great world-mission is read in the charter which the Lord gave to the Church, to accomplish which He pledged His presence, His all-power in heaven and earth. The command is positive, urgent, imperial. More majestic than the mandate of earthly sovereigns is the charge of the King of kings. This enterprise of Divine mercy to sinners was to outstrip the enterprises of commerce or war or discovery. The swift-winged messengers were to go everywhere bearing tidings of salvation in the Name of Him who came from Heaven to seek and save the lost. He himself is the Chief of this marvellous world-wide enterprise to win universal dominion for the Prince of Peace. Infinite love prompts and compels to this work, demanding absolute obedience, unfaltering faith, quenchless zeal, courage that never wavers, self-immolation that first gives itself and then by resistless persuasion draws to its support all the resources that are needful for this grandest of enterprises.

What holds us back? Is it not lack of faith which makes us cautious, calculating, timid? We walk by sight. We lean upon the arm of flesh when we should stay ourselves upon the omnipotence of God and the unfailing promise of His Word. We take counsel of men when we should listen to Him and open our hearts to the inspiration of His Spirit. Oh! for courage to venture more, undertake larger things, and push on the work in every part of our beloved land and beyond the seas. Forward, Church of the Living God! Sound the bugle call in every parish, at every hearthstone, and in every heart. Waken the slumbering. Silence the doubting. Say to the timid and fearful, Be strong; nerve yourselves for the task. God is calling us by His providence to be His witnesses and to possess the land for Him whose dominion shall stretch from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

COMPARISON OF CONTRIBUTIONS.

It is encouraging to observe the increase of contributions by a comparison of three years. That the growth of the work should make larger demands is a subject not for regret, but for thankfulness.

The following table shows the contributions in 1889, 1890 and 1891, from which it appears that up to May 26th there was an increase this year over 1890 of nearly $17,000 and over 1889 of $47,500:

	To March 1st.	To April 1st.	To May 1st.	To May 26th.
1889	$133,785.08	$159,624.62	$198,848.53	$235,791.46
1890	155,227.06	180,351.52	235,048.20	266,588.87
1891	138,927.85	174,742.53	246,879.84	283,287.78

CHILDREN'S LENTEN OFFERING.

At the end of eight weeks after Easter the amount received by our Treasurer for the Lenten Offering this year is $41,242.73. At the corresponding time last year the amount received was $40,607.07. There are yet many boxes to be heard from, and we are waiting for them to complete the account for this year.

The Sunday-schools of the Diocese of Pennsylvania have done better than ever before. The whole amount contributed by them is $10,698, of which $7,039 came to our treasury and is counted in the above total, the remainder being paid by them direct. The Diocese of Missouri a year ago comprised the whole State of Missouri, and gave $1,100. The Diocese of West Missouri having been set off within the year, the Diocese of Missouri, with only half the state, has given this year $1,147.60, or more than the whole state a year ago! The new Diocese of Oregon has this year given $923.

These results are simply grand, and show the advantage of organization, enthusiasm and leadership. The Sunday-school of St. Peter's parish, Helena, Montana, has given $197.16. This single example of a Sunday-school is worthy to be mentioned here because their splendid response is from a missionary jurisdiction.

Some who in other years have united in the Lenten Offering have, we regret to say, this year directed their offerings to other objects, and not a few have sent their money directly to special purposes, and we are not able to count them in the result. If all these had been sent to swell the offering the total would surely exceed $50,000.

If we could reach the ears of all who have contributed to the offering this year we should try to make them feel that they are real helpers of our joy in the general missionary work. We congratulate them, and trust that their example may inspire the Sunday-schools everywhere to join in a larger effort in time to come.

Is it too much to ask that the efforts of all the children in all the dioceses may be directed during every Lent to this offering for General Missions to the exclusion of everything else? With the spirit which is shown in some quarters we are confident that if in all parts of the Church the children can be united during the six weeks of Lent only, the result will be an offering not of $50,000, but of $100,000.

INSPIRING WORDS.

ROBERT YOUNG in his volume entitled "The Success of Christian Missions" makes the following concluding remarks :

It is related of Hannibal that, when he had led his men to one of the higher ridges of the Alps, they began to murmur, and requested that they should be reconducted to their native country. Standing on an eminence and waving his hand the intrepid Carthaginian general directed their attention to the plains of Piedmont below. "Behold," said he, "these fruitful vineyards and luxuriant fields. A few more struggles and they are all your own." These were inspiring words, and they had the desired effect. May we not apply them to the subject under consideration and say, Behold, from the mount of promise, the nations of the earth at the feet of the Church's exalted Head? A few more struggles on the part of His followers, and voices shall be heard, not in Heaven only, but from the innumerable and widely-scattered tongues of earth, giving utterance to the joyous announcement, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ." Glorious day! The Lord hasten it in His time.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

THE Evangelical Churchman, published in Toronto, after giving from THE SPIRIT OF MISSIONS for May a list of instances of large beneficence, says :

We might add to these, from our Canadian side of the border, the bequest of the Ven. Archdeacon Wilson of $35,000 to the mission fund of the Diocese of Toronto; the provision in the late Alderman Gillespie's will, whereby his property, amounting to $70,000, ultimately goes to the Upper Canada Bible Society; and the bequest of the late E. E. Shelton, of Montreal, to the mission fund of that diocese; a bequest which, it is thought, will amount to nearly $500,000.

In addition to the instances which we mentioned last month, the Rev. Dr. E. A. Hoffman has given $75,000 to the General Theological Seminary to endow a professorship. Mr. John S. Kennedy, of New York, has purchased ground on Fourth Avenue, upon which, it is said, he proposes to erect at a cost of $400,000 a building to be the headquarters of several charity organizations. Mr. Henry Hilton, of New York, has added $500,000 to the endowment of the Cathedral of Long Island. Mr. J. J. Belden has offered to build for the city of Syracuse, New York, a library and art building to cost $150,000. Mr. W. M. Rice has promised $200,000 to establish an institute for the advancement of literature, art and science in Houston, Texas. The late J. T. Farish, of New York, made bequests in his will amounting to $280,000 to various Church charities. The late Charles Pratt, who died recently in Brooklyn, New York, was a benefactor to his own city upon a most liberal scale. He founded and endowed local institutions of marked usefulness, besides building churches and contributing largely to missions and colleges beyond his home.

We rejoice in the accumulating evidence that men and women are consecrating riches to the noblest uses, and we will ever pray that God, who is the bestower of all good things, will give His grace to those whom He has intrusted with riches, that they, as faithful stewards, may dispense them liberally for the increase of His Kingdom.

OBJECTS FOR LIBERAL GIFTS.

THE following are commended as objects not only deserving of the consideration of all Churchmen, but especially worthy of the bounty of the generous-hearted who are blessed with riches and who would use them to promote the interests of the Church and for the salvation of mankind: The Missionary Episcopate; the establishment of Church schools; buildings in Foreign missions; the Church Building Fund; the Aged and Infirm Clergy Fund.

We have urgently appealed for buildings greatly needed in Foreign missions, and $50,000 could be spent in different parts to great advantage at once. The desirability of Christian schools in our Domestic missions is beyond all question, and the man or woman who founds such a school will do a work of lasting benefit. The endowment of the Missionary Bishoprics would not only give release to a large amount of money for other missionary work, but would also enable the jurisdictions to organize as dioceses. The Church Building Fund has already done such excellent work with its limited means as to make it worthy to receive the third hundred thousand for which it is now asking, and the care of aged and infirm clergymen is an object which should move the hearts of laymen to create a fund which shall amply provide for such of them as are laid aside by infirmities, and for the families of those who die poor.

SUPPORTING GENERAL MISSIONS.

BISHOP WHITAKER made an eloquent appeal in a part of his address to the recent annual convention of the Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania for a greater consecration to the work of evangelizing the world both at home and abroad. The Churchman, in reporting the address, thus summarizes that portion of it:

The point upon which he laid the greatest stress was the work of General Missions. He said that neither in this diocese nor any other does it get the hearing or receive the encouragement it deserves. It is largely evangelistic. It carries the Gospel to neglected portions of our own lands, and to heathen countries, where the tidings of a crucified and risen Saviour have not been proclaimed. It appeals to principles, to the obligations which rest upon us by virtue of the command of our Lord, and which is as binding upon us as it was upon the Apostles to whom it was spoken, to go and make disciples of all nations. The awakening of the missionary spirit has increased the numbers of those willing to go forth into foreign lands, but it has not yet stirred the hearts of the people to give abundantly of their silver and gold. The Church has added a petition in the Litany that God will send forth laborers into His harvest. That prayer has been answered. But, he asked, must there be another, that God would be pleased to convince His people of their individual responsibility? We need to raise the whole body of the Church to the high level of consecration of talents and money corresponding to the ability which God has given them. We need to put the general missionary work first in our consideration. The only sure way to reach this end is for each and every clergyman to make it a personal matter. It is only by bringing it home as an individual obligation, that we can be faithful to our trust.

A SUGGESTION FOR CONSIDERATION.

THE Standard of the Cross and the Church suggests that, inasmuch as the whole Church elects the Missionary Bishops, enjoys the honor of their work, and is responsible for their maintenance, the dioceses might well be assessed for their support, as they are assessed for General Convention expenses. It adds: "For the rest of the appropriations [for General Missions] also, it might be easier to bring home to the dioceses a sense of their mutual responsibility if a system corresponding to that of the subdivision of a diocese into convocations or arch-deaconries were adopted by the whole Church. Let the Missionary Council consider the suggestion. Suppose that the Board of Managers appropriate $500,000 for next year; a schedule could be recommended by the Council in October, showing, together with the expenditure intended in each diocese and missionary jurisdiction, the proportionate amount which experience and fairness would warrant the Council to ask from each of the sixty or seventy dioceses and jurisdictions. Much could be said in support of this suggestion. At present it may suffice to leave it to reflection. Is not this in the line of the purpose for which the Missionary Council was created?"

THE GAIN IN CHRISTIAN AND NON-CHRISTIAN POPULATIONS.

A FEW years ago the people of Japan were estimated at thirty-seven or thirty-eight millions, but the recent census shows the population to be 40,072,020, and the increase over last year is said to be 464,786. One estimate puts the yearly advance in the population of China at four millions. The carefully taken census in India shows the annual advance there to be one-and-a-half millions. This gain in the population by natural increase is of course greater at present in these three countries than the gain in the number of Christian converts, but proportionately even now the increase in the Christian population is much greater than in the non-Christian, and it is believed that before long the actual increase will be greater.

At a recent meeting at Simla, India, Sir Charles Elliott, the governor of Bengal, in stating the facts of the case as concerns India, taken from the unimpeachable basis of official statistics, said:

The main conclusion is that while the general population increased between 1872 and 1881 by eight per cent., the number of Christians increased by thirty per cent. In the single province of Bengal, where the rise in the number of Hindus was thirteen per cent., and of Mohammedans eleven per cent., the growth of the population of native Christians was sixty-four per cent. In the adjoining province of Assam, of which I have personal as well as statistical knowledge, while the general growth of the population was eighteen per cent., the Christians had increased in the eight valley districts by 140 per cent., and in the Khasia hills, where a devoted band of Welsh missionaries, with whom I am well acquainted, is at work, the increase had been at the remarkable rate of 250 per cent. We are now on the brink of another census, and in two years' time speakers in this place will probably be able to tell you what the results of the decade from 1881 to 1891 have been, and how far the prediction of the late census commissioner, Sir W. Plowden, has been verified, who prophesied that we should find that the seed sown had multiplied still more abundantly than in the foregoing periods. However this may be, so far as our present knowledge goes, the growth of Christianity in India has been a solid fact, and sufficiently rapid to give all needful encouragement to the supporters of missions.

A STRIKING STATEMENT.

THE Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs has given in the Sunday-school Times the following summary of the work of missions in foreign lands:

It is something that American missions alone now occupy more than 4,000 stations in unevangelized lands, with 2,350 missionaries sent from this country and more than 10,000 native helpers; that there are at these stations more than 2,700 churches, with nearly 237,000 communicants, of whom 26,000 were added last year; and that $4,000,000 are contributed annually in our country to carry on the work. It is something, certainly, that all Protestant missionary societies have now 46,000 missionaries and helpers in the field, ministering to nearly 700,000 communicants and to more than 3,000,000 adherents to Christianity, and expending every year at least $12,000,000 in the distant and costly work.

BRIEF MENTION.

A LARGE number of the clergy have complied with the requests of the Bishops in furtherance of the appeal of the Presiding Bishop for special offerings for the needs of the missionary treasury. It will not be the fault of those clergymen who faithfully inform the people of their respective cures and give them an opportunity to contribute if there shall be a lack at the end of the year, but we trust and urge that every clergyman who has not done so already will make it convenient to take an offering as early as possible. Much, very much, depends upon unanimity of effort and earnestness, which will overcome all obstacles.

THIS month's frontispiece gives an admirable view of the new building of the Hospital of the Good Samaritan, at Portland, in the Diocese of Oregon. In his last annual report to the Board Bishop Morris stated that the hospital was doing an increasing work, and that during the past year it had had over 400 patients of various religions and nationalities.

WHILE Bishop Hare is serving the Church in Japan the friends of Indian missions should take especial pains to make sure that the work which the Bishop has so much at heart among the Indians, and which he left for a time at the command of the House of Bishops, is not permitted to suffer for lack of the means which the Bishop by his personal influence would draw to it were he at home.

THE late Charles Pratt, of Brooklyn, New York, whose beneficence was ceaseless, wrote to a friend: "Life is so short that I like to feel that I am doing the best I can every day," and Baron Hirsch, who has given many millions for the relief of the Hebrew race, remarked that his plans might require all his great fortune, but "what is the use of money except to do good?"

THE Mission Field, the organ of the English Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, says: "Killarney parish has a Church population of but 26, but it raised in 1890 no less than 249*l.* 17*s.* 7*d.* [about $1,260] for objects external to the parish. The amount remitted to the society was 65*l.* 18*s.* 8*d.*, produced by offertory, a sale of work, subscriptions, collecting cards, and missionary boxes. The incumbent, Archdeacon Wynne, has kept the missionary cause well before the minds of his people, and we trust that it is now dear to their hearts."

A LETTER from Tokyo, Japan, in a recent number of the Southern Churchman, says: "Bishop Williams expects to return to Virginia before the close of the year."

AMONG the many notable responses that have come to the Presiding Bishop's recent letter we find the following, from a small city in the West: "I enclose exchange for $84.99, as our contribution to the 'help of the Lord against the mighty.' We hope in time to send you offerings far more worthy and deserving."

MR. GEORGE M. PULLMAN has given a children's ward to St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, which is said to be the most complete children's ward to be found in any hospital anywhere.

WITH OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

BISHOP JOHNSTON, of Western Texas, writes at the end of April: "I am just back from a buck-board ride of 500 miles over rocky roads, through the rain and mud and swollen streams. I wrote in my diary: 'I would like every rector of a rich city congregation to take this trip just once. They would ever afterwards be the friends of missions and missionaries.'"

BISHOP SPALDING, of Colorado, in sending a check for $100, the Lenten offering of the Sunday-school of St. John's Cathedral, wrote: "It was intended really for diocesan missions, but I know your needs. I will try to get along without it. I am securing seven men from the General Seminary, and shall need more stipend money. Don't allow my appropriation to be diminished in June. It would be terribly disastrous."

BISHOP BREWER, in making a remittance, writes: "I inclose draft for ten dollars for Domestic Missions from St. Luke's Mission, Billings, Montana. It is a struggling mission and has had no rector since last September. I spent last Sunday there and took an offering for your work, which is my work, which is the work of the whole Church, which is Christ's work."

BISHOP LEONARD, in remitting a contribution from St. Mark's Cathedral, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes: "This is additional to what has been sent and in response to my pastoral letter. I hope other sums will go forward. God knows we are poor enough here and need much ourselves, but we are not so poor as to be blind to the necessities of the Board. I thought I was interested in missions when I was a Presbyterian, but I look back upon that interest now as exceedingly weak. I sometimes wish I could be a Presbyterian again and have a parish. I am absolutely sure I could interest any parish, no matter how small, in missions. It seems to me many of our clergy have no interest in missions, or else they are afraid to talk about the matter. I am absolutely sure that every dollar which any parish contributes to so good a cause will be received back greatly multiplied in all sorts of blessings."

ARCHDEACON TREW writes from San Gabriel, California: "I wish to tell you of the good work which is being done in this diocese by the Rev. Charles Smith Cook, of Pine Ridge Agency, South Dakota. As you doubtless know already, Mr. and Mrs. Cook have been here in southern California for several weeks. On the evening preceding the meeting of our diocesan convention he made an address before a crowded congregation, drawn together for the annual diocesan meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary. He has since then delivered addresses in several of our parishes in various parts—Pasadena, Los Angeles, Riverside, etc., and yesterday, Whitsunday, he addressed our people at the morning service. The impression produced was most marked. I have tried to have my people believe in Indian missions, and we have always had an offering annually for that part of our Board's work, but the living object-lesson put before them yesterday gave them an impression of the reality and success of the work which I could never have produced by any effort. A lady has just said to me, 'It was a revelation to me.' A gentleman of large intelligence said, 'It would repay the government a hundred-fold if they would employ Mr. Cook and send him to the large centres of population to make addresses and create public sentiment such as will exist henceforth in this parish.'"

AN IMPORTANT EVENT.

PRESIDENT HARRISON in recently addressing the people of Portland, Oregon, said: "This state is interesting in its history. The establishment of the authority of the United States over this region was an important event in our national history. The possession of the Columbia and of Puget sound was essential to the completeness and roundness of our empire. We have here in this belt of states, reaching from the gulf of California to the straits of Puget sound, a magnificent possession which we could not have dispensed with at all."

The event to which the President referred, recalls a debt which this country owes to missions in the saving of the Pacific slope to the United States. All that portion of the West drained by the Columbia river, belonged to the United States by right of discovery in 1792 and by the purchase of French and Spanish claims in 1804 and 1819. Yet in 1832 the whole Pacific slope was practically in the possession of fur companies holding British charters, and they were making every effort to possess the land by permanent occupation, encouraging British immigration and establishing British colonies. Pioneer missionaries from the United States had, however, founded missions among the Indians. Dr. Whitman, a missionary physician to the Indians, aware of the importance of this great possession to the United States, perceived the danger, and, crossing the mountains in mid-winter, went to Washington and informed the government of his intention to lead a colony to Oregon and take possession. He was informed by Mr. Webster, then secretary of state, that he was too late, for already negotiations were in progress to cede the territory to England in consideration of some fishing interests on the Atlantic coast. Mr. Webster thought the country was of no value to the United States, as settlers would not cross the Rocky mountains with their wagons and families.

Negotiations were suspended, however, and the President gave the pioneers a chance to try their plan, and promised not to part with the territory if the colony succeeded. That season Dr. Whitman led a thousand persons to the valley of the Columbia, and in this way, by the timely and heroic act of this missionary, the whole Pacific slope was saved to the United States. What a debt the country owes to the enterprise of this missionary can only be estimated by the thought of the calamity from which he saved the country and the untold blessings which have followed. Well did the President say that "the possession of the Columbia and Puget sound was essential to the completeness and roundness of our empire."

WM. S. LANGFORD.

THE RATIONALE OF THE CHURCH'S EXISTENCE.

It goes without saying that missionary work, properly so called, in the outfield of non-Christianity is the plain duty of the Church of Christ. It is the very rationale of her existence, according to the original law given to Abram, the father of all them that believe, when he himself was called out and separated from the world to become a centre of blessing to that world. "I will bless thee and thou shalt be a blessing, and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth"—or, as St. Paul has it, "all nations"—"be blessed." In the present century, well designated "the century of missions," the cause has been abundantly vindicated at home, and proven to be a success abroad, on the testimony literally of "all sorts and conditions of men." We have learnt the fact of the complete adaptedness of the Gospel of the grace of God to all racial and religious varieties of man. A vast accumulation of evidence of the power of the Gospel to every soul that believeth has been collected from every part of the globe. The Church's responsibility for the evangelization of the world has been increasingly brought to light, and to a considerable extent practically acknowledged; and the day is past when the old gibes at missions and missionaries are endured, at any rate among thoughtful and intelligent people.—Church Missionary Intelligencer.

A STORY OF NEW JAPAN.

THE Rev. Dr. William Elliot Griffis, the author of "The Mikado's Empire," "William Calbraith Perry," and other books, has given us a remarkably interesting story of modern Japan under the title of "Honda the Samurai." It is one of the very few books on Japan written from an inside point of view. The author is one of the few living Americans who saw the Japanese feudal system in operation, and witnessed its downfall and burial and the establishment of a new and better order of things. At the invitation of the Prince of Echizen, he lived in that daimio's capital, the city of Fukui, and organized and instructed on the American method a large school for samurai young men, the retainers or two-sworded gentry of the Lord of Echizen. He was afterwards a professor of the university in Tokyo.

Dr. Griffis' story extends from 1852 to 1890, and the principal characters in it are Honda Jiro, the intensely patriotic samurai, who in the end becomes a loyal servant of Christ, and a propagator of the religion he formerly misunderstood and opposed; the lovely Hoshi (Star), who eventually became the Christian wife of Honda; the Prince of Echizen, his son Fujimaro, and the beautiful wife of the latter; Professor Koba, the able and wise adviser of the Lord of Echizen, who was not only profoundly versed in Chinese classical lore and the histories of China and Japan, but had obtained and studied a copy of the New Testament, which he valued above all his other books, but which he had to read in secret, and who for his supposed love of which and his advocacy of the toleration of Christianity was at last assassinated, like some other noble personages referred to in the story; also Dr. Sano, an exceedingly intelligent and influential physician, and

Mr. and Mrs. Rai, all three being intimate friends of Professor Koba and the Prince of Echizen. Matsudaira, the enlightened, patriotic and judicious daimio of Echizen, was the steadfast friend of Dr. Griffis, and it was this same Matsudaira who was appointed by the mikado dictator of Japan in the few years preceding the overthrow of the mycoon, and whose important reformatory actions while dictator were suggested in many cases by Professor Koba.

The fiction in this charming story bears a very subordinate part, merely helping to give a personal interest to political and social movements of the utmost importance. It is more than a story founded on fact; it is rather, as the author says in the preface, "a mass of facts cemented together with a little imagination and fancy." Woven into the story are pictures of princely life in the castles, and the home life of the gentry and the common people; the remarkable ceremonies in the castle of Echizen and the festivities attending the marriage of Prince Fujimaro to the Princess Kiku (Chrysanthemum) from Kumamoto; school-life and scholars; superstitions, idols and temples; priestcraft and its victims; and missionary life and work. It is indeed an unusually varied story of love and war, conservatism and progress, superstition and true religion, and the best of it is that it is as true as it is attractive and fascinating.

THE Guild of St. Paul, which was started in England by Bishop Bickersteth of Japan to secure sympathy and support for his work, has been singularly successful, and it now numbers about 2,000 members, with forty-three branches. The Bishop of Exeter is the patron.

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Form of a Bequest to Domestic Missions.

I give, devise, and bequeath, to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, for Domestic Missions.....

Should it be desired, the words can be added: To be used for work among the Indians, or for work among Colored People.....

THE CHURCH IN NEW MEXICO AND ARIZONA.

THERE are eleven places in the jurisdiction of New Mexico and Arizona where services are as a rule regularly supplied: In New Mexico, Las Vegas, Santa Fé, Albuquerque, Silver City, Deming, Las Cruces and Mesilla, and Eddy; in Arizona, Phoenix, Tucson, Tombstone, and Prescott. Generally, some of these missions are vacant, but the effort is to keep them all supplied.

There are seven other places in the jurisdiction where we ought to supply services regularly, but are not able as yet to do so: in New Mexico, Raton, Watrous, Socorro, San Marcial and Kingston; in Arizona, Florence and Globe. We ought to supply services at these places, because there are a considerable number of our Church people at each one, and our strength makes us responsible in large measure for the religious future of these towns. Occasional services are held by some of us at these points, but nothing sufficient is being done. Three missionaries could supply these places, if we had them and the means to support them.

At other places in the jurisdiction, villages, mining camps and ranches, we have Church people. I have a list of sixty-three communicants at eighteen places, where our missionaries, with the small number that we have, cannot expect to do more than make an occasional visit and hold a service. Some of these people have not yet been reached, except by correspondence. This list does not include the military posts, of which there are eleven in the jurisdiction; six others have been discontinued. At most, if not at all, of these posts, we have communicants, or baptized members.

This is the field before us, the demands of which are most immediate. We must first take care of our own people, and use them, where we can secure their co-operation, for doing our work for others.

Outside of these places and people that have been mentioned, there are villages and mining camps and ranches, where there are none who belong to us as a Church, but there are those who belong to us as a race. There is a large scattered English-speaking population that is not regularly reached by religious services of any sort. When one of our missionaries goes among these people, he is, as a rule, cordially welcomed and attentively listened to. Most of us have done something of this sort of work. But, as a Church, we have hardly been doing our share of it.

Outside of all these people, there are populations that do not belong to us as a race.

For the Spanish-speaking people we have done nothing. We have not gone to them, and, except in the case of a very few individuals, they have not come to us.

For the Indians we are beginning to try to do something. It seems as though there is an opportunity for us that can be improved; but it is not worth while to say more about this till we are actually on the ground.

During the years 1889-90, services were held at thirty places in the jurisdiction. During the years 1890 to 1891, services were held at forty-one places.

At the last convocation, which was held in October, 1891, the following summary of statistics was presented: Number of clergy—Bishop, 1; Presbyters, 4; Deacon, 1; total, 6 (there were two others actually, but not canonically, resident, making our working force at that time eight missionaries); postulants admitted, 2; candidates for Deacons' Orders, 2 (one of these for the Republic of Mexico); candidate for Priests' Orders, 1; lay-readers, 7; organized missions, 13; confirmed in the jurisdiction, 66; communicants, 645; baptisms (infants, 69; adults, 26), total, 95; marriages, 20; burials, 21; Sunday-school teachers and scholars, 327; contributions for all purposes, $8,644; church buildings and chapels, 8; sittings, 1,390; rectories and mission-house, 5.

THE CHURCH BUILDING FUND.

THE thirtieth of April marked a notable epoch in the history of the American Church Building Fund. As this is the largest permanent fund belonging to the whole Church in this country, this event is of unusual interest. On that day the fund reached $200,000, passing its second milestone on the way to its $1,000,000.

The first contribution was received in January, 1881; in November, 1887, it reached its first $100,000, and now on April 30th, 1891, the second $100,000 is completed. This progress is much slower than was hoped when the fund was established at the General Convention in 1880, but, perhaps, that very slowness has been an advantage, for it has prevented the overbuilding that, perhaps, would have resulted if a vast sum had all at once been available for that purpose, and at the same time it has established what is probably the most perfect system of usefulness for Church money that was ever devised.

It can be broadly asserted that no money given for any other good object even attempts to do what is accomplished by that which goes to the Building Fund. By the system of investing the principal in loans to aid in church building, no money is tied up, but every dollar is immediately put at work in the direction intended, and as the loans are returned, the money goes out again and again on new errands of usefulness, and so will continue, so far as human foresight can judge, to the end of time. Every dollar given to the fund in its earlier days has already aided in building two, and in some cases three, churches; and it may be calculated that it will help to build one church in every five years, as experience shows that one-fifth of the loans are returned each year. Supposing that a loan of $500 on the average, made at an opportune moment, will cause the establishment of a new church on the frontier, the giver of that amount may consider that his money will cause the Gospel to be preached in twenty new places every century, down through the ages to the end.

By this admirable system, the Building Fund, though comparatively small, has already been enabled to accomplish a great work. The last annual report showed that 137 loans had been made down to last September. These ranged in amount from $200 to $7,000, and represented new churches in all parts of the country, from ocean to ocean. Between September and April 30th, thirty more loans were made, aggregating $29,871. Naturally, most of the aid has been extended to the newer sections of the country, and so we find that of the churches aided, fourteen are in South Dakota, thirteen in Minnesota, eleven in Colorado, ten in Iowa, nine each in Kansas and Nebraska, seven in Texas, while California, Florida and Wyoming are not far behind. The last report showed that thirty-five of the 137 loans then made had been entirely repaid, and all are being gradually cleared off. This is the best kind of help, for while it allows our people to build at the right time, instead of having to wait, as they did before, until the opportune period has passed, yet it preserves the independence of the new church and stimulates self-help. The amount of the fund is insignificant compared with the sums used by other Christian bodies in similar work, but by this admirable system it has been enabled to accomplish far more in proportion. What it needs is rapid increase. The limit of loaning capacity was reached last month, and nothing more can be done till more funds are obtained. The Church's needs are great, and the calls for aid, from all over our wide domain, are incessant and urgent. The whole million dollars are needed for the work. How easily a few wealthy persons could hasten the day! The system of "named funds" establishes the most perfect, useful and enduring memorials ever devised.

It required nearly seven years to raise the first $100,000, and three-and-a-half years for the second. What a glorious thing it would be if the end of this year could see another milestone passed, and another $100,000 dedicated to the perpetual service of the Lord in the extension of His Church.

L. BRADFORD PRINCE.

MISSIONARY INTELLIGENCE.

CALIFORNIA.—At the last diocesan convention, held at Los Angeles, the Assistant Bishop (Dr. Nichols) read his first annual address. In it he said: "Our field is so large and so varied, and our diocese so much thrown upon itself by its isolation, that I am constrained by the very multitude of its concerns and opportunities to speak to you at this time simply upon diocesan matters. The conditions for a genuine missionary enthusiasm are most favorable. With the large and healthy increase in our contributions, with thirteen new missionary organizations in the year and three missions of the Board reaching parochial strength and organization and relinquishing their appropriations for other points, besides one mission of a city parish that has become itself a parish, we read the record with gratitude to God." The Bishop also commended the work of the general missionary of the diocese. The Church people in the southern portion of the diocese were rejoiced to learn that a layman of San Francisco had promised to pay the salary ($1,500) of a general missionary for the southern convocation for the coming year. During the past year the missions at Hanford, Bakersfield and Pomona have become parishes.

EAST CAROLINA.—Bishop Watson writes: "We have lost two very valuable men, both of them on the missionary list of the Board.

"The Rev. Israel Harding, a most laborious, indefatigable and faithful missionary, died January 13th, 1891. He was a man of his own sort; all the time on the move, perpetually looking up new stations and breaking new ground. He almost died in his own conveyance, so tenaciously did he hold fast to his work. When he ought to have been at home and in bed he would drive on, though obliged to stop on the road at the house of some friend and go to bed for awhile. I cannot easily get another such man.

"The Rev. Robert B. Windley was rector of Zion Church, Beaufort county, where he labored most faithfully for many years; a strictly rural congregation, very remarkable for its faithful attendance on Divine worship. At the Bishop's visitation, no matter how busy a week-day it may be, though in the very midst of the ploughing season, they leave their work and crowd the church and vestry-room, with frequently an out-door surplus. Mr. Windley was highly regarded by them, and his death makes another peculiar chasm, which I shall find it hard to fill. He leaves a widow and six children. He died March 12th, 1891.

"Both of the brethren, whom I have mentioned, lived laborious and self-denying lives, working patiently and without complaint, and sustaining their families, upon the most meagre incomes—Mr. Harding, although obliged to keep a horse for his extensive mission work, yet receiving scarcely more than $300 per annum all told, exclusive of his missionary stipends, and Mr. Windley, even by the help of a school, maintaining and educating his family upon a local income of not more than $350 per annum."

LONG ISLAND.—St. Augustine's Church, Brooklyn, after an existence of many years as a mission of the Colored People, has become an independent parish, with a Colored rector.

MARYLAND.—The Washington Evening Star says: "A lady, a communicant of St. John's Church, has recently deeded to the American Security and Trust Company of Washington, D. C., a valuable tract of land in this city in trust, the income from said property to be devoted to the support of a cathedral foundation hereafter to be created by the Episcopal Church in the District of Columbia. Inasmuch as a cathedral board of trustees has not yet been incorporated, and it will take some time to accomplish this, the owner of this property has, as above stated, deeded the land to the American Security and Trust Company, in trust, with the stipulation that the income of the property shall be administered for the purposes of the cathedral by the following persons, to wit: The Bishop of the diocese, ex-officio, the rector of St. John's Church, and the wardens of St. John's Church, ex officio. The project for the cathedral of the Episcopal Church has been for some time broached in Washington and has had Bishop Paret's hearty approval. The present value of the above-mentioned gift for the cathedral endowment is estimated at $80,000; the prospective value of it will be many times that sum."

MASSACHUSETTS.—The report to the last diocesan convention of the committee on the increase of the episcopal fund showed that about $70,000 had been raised by voluntary contributions, including the sum paid for the episcopal residence, and that further contributions were still needed. It was resolved by the convention that the committee should make an immediate effort to increase the fund to $150,000. The receipts of the diocesan board of missions last year for current work were $11,575; for special objects, $2,112: total receipts, $13,339. Aid was furnished to thirty-eight missions.

MISSISSIPPI.—The annual missionary meeting of this diocese was held at Vicksburg on Wednesday, April 29th, in connection with the meeting of the diocesan convention. The secretary of the diocesan board of missions reported that the work of the board was in a very prosperous condition. Seventeen missionaries were at work in the diocese.

NEW JERSEY.—During the past conventional year about $5,000 was expended for Diocesan Missions. The diocesan branch of the Woman's Auxiliary reported to the last convention receipts in money and boxes for General Missions about $8,400. The convention resolved that $6,200 should be raised for Diocesan Missions this year, and recommended that all parishes and mission-stations should contribute for that purpose not less than fifty cents, and, if possible, one dollar for each communicant. The Bishop, in his address to the convention, said that the growth of the Church does far more than keep pace with the growth of the state. In fourteen years the communicant list has increased from 7,000 to 12,500.

NEW MEXICO AND ARIZONA.—Bishop Kendrick writes: "I have spoken to you of the project of a clergy-house at Albuquerque or some other central place in my jurisdiction. Albuquerque is now the most central point for the two territories. It is situated on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad, which runs north and south through New Mexico, at its junction with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, which runs east and west through northern Arizona, and it is no very great distance to Deming, at the junction of the Atchison road with the Southern Pacific, which runs east and west through southern Arizona. I have fixed my residence at Albuquerque and have established an associate mission at that place. This associate mission consists at present of a Presbyter and a Deacon, who do the work in Albuquerque and such other mission work as can be reached up and down the Atchison road and out on the Atlantic & Pacific. It is our purpose to bring together our candidates for Orders at Albuquerque, so far as practicable, to prepare them there for their examinations and to use them in the field while they are going on with their studies. With so many small towns needing attention, and with so few men as we have and are likely to have to do the work, this plan of an associate mission has been forced upon us. At its head is the Rev. Henry Forrester, a man of unusual ability and a missionary of large experience, thoroughly devoted to his work and entirely reliable. The Rev. Mr. Glyn is Mr. Forrester's associate. For this associate mission a clergy-house is greatly needed. It will be the home of the Bishop and of the clergy of the associate mission and of the candidates who may be with us. It will gather us all under one roof, which is something very desirable. It will save to the jurisdiction the rent of houses and rooms for the clergy and candidates, for which the Bishop must be responsible, and it will give the Bishop of the jurisdiction a settled home, which he is not likely to get in any other way, but this last point I do not press."

OHIO.—The award of the annual "Pierre Jay" prize of $100, to the student of the divinity-school at Gambier who should present the best essay on Foreign Missions, has been made to Mr. Owen J. Davies. The theme of the essay was "Motives for Foreign Missions." The Bishop of the diocese was so impressed by the excellence of the essay of Mr. Joseph Motoda, a Japanese student, that he presented to him a check for twenty-five dollars. During the past year the episcopate fund of the diocese increased from about $17,000 to about $53,000, and $6,779.80 was contributed for diocesan missions.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The report to the last annual convention of this diocese upon Diocesan Missions showed that out of 152 parishes and mission-stations asked, during the past year, to contribute for this purpose, 136 had given as much as or more than was asked for, eight had responded in part, and eight had not contributed. The entire receipts of the board, for the year, were $13,408.87. The board has an invested fund of about $20,000. The convention called for $15,000 for the work of the current year.

SPRINGFIELD.—The diocese is steadily working up its episcopate fund. A promise of the tenth thousand can be realized as soon as $9,000 is raised, and less than $500 is now required to make up the $9,000.

TENNESSEE.—Bishop Quintard writes, under date of April 20th last: "During the present term we have had eight students at Hoffman Hall, two of them graduates in arts, and the others pursuing their classical course in Fisk university. Their progress during the term has been most satisfactory, and they are recognized as among the very best students. Of course we have had applications for a number of others, who would be gladly welcomed could we provide for their maintenance. I think it a matter of very great interest that the professors of Fisk university have cordially co-operated in all our work, even to preparing a class for Confirmation. The chapel services on Sunday are frequently crowded with the instructors and pupils of Fisk university, and if the chapel were double its size it would still be filled.

"The Rev. Professor Benton, of the theological school at Sewanee, delivered, during the winter, a course of lectures on the Incarnation. Lectures have also been delivered by the Bishop of the diocese, the Rev. Dr. Shoup, and Dr. Hubbard, president of the Meharry medical school, and a course is now being delivered by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Detroit, on Church history. These have been attended not only by our own students, but by the dean and students of the Congregational theological school of Fisk university.

"Archdeacon C. B. Perry, warden of Hoffman Hall, has charge of all the work among the Colored People in the Diocese of Tennessee. The mission at St. Cyprian's, Gallatin, is in good working order, and on his recent visit there the Bishop confirmed four persons. He also confirmed thirty-three at Emmanuel Church, Memphis, and others are now awaiting his visitation at Hoffman Hall, and another at St. Augustine's, the parish church at Nashville.

"The Rev. M. O. Smith is the principal of the Hall. At the close of Professor Benton's lectures he was presented with theses by the theological students, in which they embodied much of their year's work in addition to what he had given them, and he pronounced them equal to the best that he was accustomed to receive as a professor of theology.

"The archdeacon recently visited St. Peter's Church, Columbia, and presented the interests of the work to a deeply interested congregation. Aided by St. Andrew's Brotherhood, which, by a spontaneous movement, had pledged itself to the work, and by the excellent surpliced choir, a large congregation of Colored People was gathered in the afternoon, and it is proposed at once to organize a Sunday-school and industrial schools.

"The work of Hoffman Hall has been abundantly blessed of God, and the Bishop has felt the necessity of acquiring additional ground. The adjoining lot has been purchased, and, through the kindness of a member of St. Augustine's League, the first payment has been made, and already the students are industriously cultivating it and raising vegetables for use in the Hall."

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Form of Bequest to Foreign Missions.

I give, devise, and bequeath, to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, for Foreign Missions

Should it be desired, the words can be added: For work in Africa, or China, etc., etc.

SYNOD OF THE JAPAN CHURCH.

THE REV. J. T. Cole, secretary of the Standing Committee of the Jurisdiction of Japan, writing from Tokyo, April 16th, says: "We hoped to have Bishop Hare with us on Easter Day, and waited impatiently for news of the steamer. The day was fair and bright and a very happy Easter for us all. The morning services (Japanese) at Trinity Church began at 8.30 A.M., attended by a very large congregation, and 110 received the Holy Communion. At 11.30 A.M. the English services, Morning Prayer and Holy Communion, found nearly seventy gathered, the largest number (English) we have had since the opening services. At 2 P. M. Evening Prayer was said and Baptism was administered (Japanese), at which service twenty-three adults were baptized, and the day closed with Evening Prayer in English at 7.30 P. M. Our sister church, St. Andrew's, of the Church of England, Shiba, had likewise large congregations.

"About midnight a telegram came saying the Bishop's ship had arrived, and the next morning at seven all the Tokyo men, Messrs. Page, Woodman, Gardiner, Francis, Cole and Patton (in for Easter), were on their way to Yokohama to meet Bishop Hare. We found him well, after a long but restful journey, and ready to go back with us to Tokyo by the next train. The whole mission (children too) were present at noon prayers read in Trinity.

"After tiffin Bishop Hare and Bishop Williams had a long consultation. At 4 P. M. the ladies of the mission gave the Bishop an informal reception at No. 38 Tsukiji (the Rev. Mr. Page's); at 5.30 P. M. the Bishop met the Standing Committee in consultation, and after supper met all the clergy for a conference. The next morning, at 8.30 A.M., we (men) all took the overland train for Osaka, Mrs. Francis and Miss Page also joining the party. We reached Nagoya at 9 P. M., where we stayed over night, and taking the 9 A.M. train next morning were in Osaka by 5.30 P. M. where we found the Rev. Messrs. Tyng and McKim and Dr. Laning present to greet us.

"Our mission conference held a preliminary meeting that night. The next (Thursday) morning, at St. Timothy's Church, there were Holy Communion and an address by Bishop Hare. After service the conference met in regular session, and also in the afternoon. At night Bishop Hare was obliged to meet some Japanese brethren, and the conference met as a committee of the whole.

"The next morning (Friday) the conference met. At noon we adjourned to meet in Tokyo, subject to the call of the Bishop. There were so many matters demanding settlement that the Bishop decided that he must confer with the members of the mission again before the estimates for 1891-92 could be made up. This meeting will be held here on the 28th or 29th of this month, in time to forward the estimates by the mail of May 5th.

"On Saturday, after Morning Prayer and Holy Communion (Japanese), the third synod of the Nippon Sei Ko Kwai assembled. All the clerical deputies (nine Japanese and fifteen foreign) and twenty-one (I think) Japanese lay deputies were in attendance. Bishop Dickersteth introduced Bishop Hare, after reading and translating the official commission from the American Presiding Bishop. The whole synod rose to welcome him. There had been, before the meeting, some conference as to a vote on Bishop Hare's taking his seat with full powers to act, and a mover and a seconder of a motion to this effect were ready. But so prompt was the action of the synod and so hearty their instant assent that no motion was made and the whole synod recognized Bishop Hare without question as the American Bishop.

"A motion was carried unanimously inviting Bishop Williams to a seat on the 'bench of Bishops,' with all its privileges save that of a vote. However, Bishop Williams, who came later to Osaka at the request of Bishop Hare, only appeared once to express his thanks; then he was welcomed by a rising vote and remained through a short session. Bishop Hare, with Mr. Tyng and an interpreter, spent the day in Kyoto, preaching, and visiting that station.

"The synod met on Monday, the 6th, at 9 A.M. and held daily sessions till 5 or 6 P.M., adjourning on Friday, the 10th, at 6 P.M. The next synod, God willing, will be held in Tokyo, 1893.

"There were some sixty-odd resolutions before the synod, many of them important. A number referring to the Prayer Book were referred to the revision committee to be reported on in 1893, while the two Bishops expressed their consent to the request of the synod, to set forth 'shortened services,' practically those set forth at home, for use till 1893. It seems to be the general opinion that the synod on the whole was most successful. Some dangerous issues were side-tracked, important matters, in which hasty legislation would have been injurious, were referred to committees, and a better understanding seemed to be arrived at on all sides."

REMARKABLE SUCCESS AT OYAMADA, JAPAN.

At the close of the year 1887, the villagers of Oyamada, in the island of Kiu-shiu, Japan, sent an appeal, through a delegate appointed for the purpose, to the Rev. A. B. Hutchinson, of the Church Missionary Society's Mission at Nagasaki, to come and teach them "the good doctrine of the perfect, holy, flawless Lord." The people of this very beautiful village, where thousands of excursionists go yearly, had learned of the Saviour of mankind from two Japanese who had heard Mr. Hutchinson preach at Nagasaki, and being wearied with their idol worship, and pretty well convinced of its uselessness, they resolved to be instructed in Christianity.

Mr. Hutchinson responded at once to the appeal, and he and one or two native assistants have labored at Oyamada as well as at Nagasaki and Fukuoka. No less than 160 persons have received Baptism at Oyamada, and there are now about 100 communicants. These native Christians have built a church costing $1,300, of which $900 was provided by themselves.

CHINA.

HOLY WEEK AND EASTER IN WUCHANG.

BISHOP BOONE writes from Wuchang on Tuesday in Easter-week, March 31st, as follows: "We send you our Easter greetings, and I trust that the Lenten offerings of the Church will show the loving self-denial of many hearts, and so lift somewhat the burden of the load the Board has to carry. We had a solemn Holy Week, with its multiplied services, and a very happy Easter. The day was pleasantly cool; the church well filled, relatively, at each of four services; twenty-six communed at the first Eucharist, at 7.30 A.M., which Mr. Partridge celebrated. We had previously, at 6 A.M., had a bright praise service at the close of which each of the fifty-eight persons present got two red eggs as a gift. At 11 A.M., 250 Church-members and day-scholars assembled. Messrs. Tsun, Partridge, and Lio took the shortened Morning Prayer, while Mr. Kwei assisted me in the Holy Eucharist, when forty-nine persons made their Easter communion, or seventy-five in all at the two celebrations. I delivered the sermon on I. Cor. xv., 20, joined to Rev. vii., 1-4 and 9-17. After service the outside congregation had Chinese buns to the number of 1,142, viz., three to each one, and the cost was $3.42, a cheap feast. At 4 P.M., Ss. Tsun, who is generally at Fukai, delivered the sermon, and in the evening I had all the clergy on this side of the river (five in all) to dine in foreign style."

REPORT ON ST. MARY'S HALL.

The Rev. Elliot H. Thomson reports as follows upon the last semi-annual examinations of St. Mary's Hall, Shanghai: "We were not so much favored as to the weather as when last I was present in the old St. Mary's Hall. I may say, however, that all outward deficiencies in the condition of the weather were more than made up in the enjoyment of the sight of the handsome new Hall and its beautiful interior. I remember once, when, approaching St. John's College, we came in sight of the buildings and the grounds, I remarked of the long, old shed-like building called St. Mary's Hall, which stood far in the background, 'Why, Miss Wong (now Mrs. Pott), St. Mary's looks like a stable.' She laughed her merry laugh, and said, 'That is just what it does look like.' We Christians, however, never should despise a stable. As homely as the building was (being built of the remnants of the old Baird Hall and Emma Jones School-houses), yet a noble work was carried on under its roof, and its chief (Miss Wong) was a lovely example of a Christian character. We can heartily pray that the blessing of the Lord may follow her in her new relations in life.

"The new Hall in all its details is very handsome; I do not mean showy, but well adapted to its use and well finished. The school-rooms, dormitories and chapel are beautiful and airy. With Mr. Pott, I visited the Hall soon after my return. We were entirely unexpected, but found every part in beautiful order, all sweet and bright. Miss Dodson and her assistants may certainly be congratulated on the high state of neatness in which all is kept. It is not possible for a young girl to come and live those five or six years of her school life in such surroundings and not be greatly influenced by them in all her after life—order, cleanliness, politeness, true religion, expanding her ideas of the world and of what human life means.

"The examination began with the younger scholars, of whom there were eighteen in the first division. The smaller ones recited from the various catechisms, prepared by the mission, on the Creed, the Commandments, the Lord's Prayer, parts of the Old Testament, etc. They also recited from those Chinese classics which are given the younger scholars. One feels sorry for them to have to imbibe such trash as much of what these smaller books contain is, but the study of these books is part of a Chinese education, and they would be in a sad plight in Chinese daily life not to know something of the contents of these books. In fact, some of our own classical studies are not of higher character.

"The next division, of twelve scholars, gave us recitations from the four Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles. These also recited from the next advanced books in their Chinese studies. There was a marked improvement in the recitations, these being given in a more audible tone of voice. I was pleased to see this, for it has been a long struggle to bring the scholars to speak loud enough to be heard with ease.

"This finished our morning work with the school, but just before we left for luncheon, a little diversion (I may call it) was created by the marching in of all the little 'tots' from the orphanage, who had learned a few Chinese characters. They were highly delighted as each handed her little box of square bits of red paper with large Chinese characters written on them. One must take these bits out and ask the scholar to tell the names of the characters. You soon find they know them all perfectly, so, as there may be a hundred or two of them, you begin, after the hours of strain at examination, to get weary of it. So I thought I would get on more rapidly by taking out two or more at a time. 'Oh! no,' said the little one, 'there is another one under the top one.' She was clear for having every one given. I wonder if there are many little boys or girls at home who would object to their teacher turning over two or three pages and not requiring them to recite all? These 'little ones' made themselves quite at home with us, and were rather reluctant to leave.

"On our resuming work in the afternoon, we began with more difficult studies of the more advanced scholars. In this division there were twelve present. It would greatly lengthen this report to give the work of the classes of this division in detail. In Chinese they recited from a work on Christian Evidences, from an epitome of theology and in the Chinese classics from the Book of Rites, the work called Koo-vung, being selections from famous writings in ten volumes, the classic on famous women, the books of Mencius, the sayings of Confucius, etc. These books were all first recited and then translated or explained in the dialect. The scholars did their work very well, as also did the class in geography. In the latter study I noticed a little hesitancy in the use of the atlas; some were a little inclined to point broadcast over the map; but we should remember our maps must be all upside-down to the Chinese mind, for they consider that the magnetic needle points to the south, and they say east-north and not north-east as we do.

"The class in the science catechism were using a new work written by the Rev. Mr. Pott in Chinese, which in an easy and clear manner gives them an insight into a knowledge of the world of things around them. In English there were two classes. The first did quite well, but the second was not well up in its spelling. English study is a new departure in the school, so they are all new at this rather difficult study, for to one on whom the word picture does not take a strong hold on the mind it will be found a slow work. I speak from personal experience of about fifty years or more. Last, but by no means least, I would mention that two of the scholars did most admirably in their execution of some musical pieces on which they had practised for the examination. The patience and pains taken in bringing the scholars up to such skill certainly deserves high appreciation.

"After the exercises were over there was distribution of some beautiful prizes for good conduct, regularity at services, success in study, at all of which they seemed pleased. There was a short address made to them in Chinese, urging them to let their light shine. Thus a very pleasant examination closed.

"We who see such a work as this in a great heathen land can but feel what a beautiful sight it is. The training up of these young women to higher and brighter lives, to be day by day striving to lead them to know Christ and His love and to accept the peace and rest which only faith in Him can give—can anything be higher? Let us Christianize the women and the empire is Christ's. Those who are contributing of their means and their prayers and their influence for the continuance of such work as that done in St. Mary's Hall and the orphanage at Shanghai are enjoying a great and precious privilege."

JAPAN.

BISHOP HARE IN JAPAN.

BISHOP HARE writes from Osaka, April 10th: "I wrote you just after my arrival, as I was about leaving Tokyo for this place, which is about nineteen hours distant from Tokyo by rail. The synod of the Japan Church—made up of representatives of the English Church and of the American Episcopal Church and of Japanese who have received the Gospel from those two Churches—has been in session almost ever since my arrival here. It is presided over by Bishop Bickersteth. The Bishops sit with the clerical and lay delegates, but they vote separately, and their assent is necessary to the passage of any legislative act. The clergy and laity vote by orders, also, when this privilege is called for by either party. The conservative element is thus well provided for; and this is well, for the boldness with which all sorts of propositions are presented and advocated strikes me almost painfully; but it is to be remembered that this is the early summer or late spring of Japanese life, and luxuriant growth of ideas is to be expected. The keen interest with which the laity take part in the debates and in the settlement of the Church in Japan is delightful to see, and I trust will continue when the novelty of the movement has passed away.

"I rank the personnel of our foreign missionary force here very high. The Church should be proud of her representatives, and ashamed that she has left them without a leader. I can conceive of no nobler field for the exercise in the episcopal office of the highest gifts with which God endows His creatures. There is not a diocese in the United States which offers larger opportunity to intellect, heart, and will, and, as I look upon this magnificent field, I cannot but wonder what incubus has rested upon our Church and has hindered it from giving one of its very best Presbyters for the episcopal care of a work which merits all that the Church can give it.

"I absent myself from the synod to write these few lines to catch the mail, and must now bring them to a close and return to my place."

MISCELLANY.

TOPICS FOR PRAYER.

- I. THAT through the abundance of God's grace spiritual fruits may be vouchsafed in all our missions at home and abroad.
- II. That the responsibility for the general missionary work may be impressed upon the hearts and consciences of all our Church people, and that they may be moved to increasing efforts to maintain and advance it.

PRAYER ANSWERED.

ONE day Dr. Livingstone, in the heart of that dark continent, became disheartened. He was surrounded by the cannibals, sick with fever, and his men were about to desert him to return to their homes. He says: "The prospect of being obliged to return distressed me exceedingly, and I went into my little tent with the mind directed to Him who hears the sighing of the soul; but soon the men entered, and with the most artless simplicity of manner told me to be comforted, they would not forsake me, they were all my children and would die for me."

During the recent cruel persecutions of the Christians in the Kingdom of Uganda, the missionaries, driven from their homes, found refuge near the lake, and there they waited, praying to God to interpose and put an end to the cruelties of the brutal king Mwanga, for their mission was broken up, the native Christians were clubbed to death, burned alive, and torn to pieces. Their prayers were soon answered, for just as Mwanga was meditating a general massacre of all the Christians, he was dethroned, pursued, and hunted by his enemies.—Selected.

GIVING AS WORSHIP.

THE first act of worship that was ever rendered to the blessed Saviour was accompanied with gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. These gifts were not rejected. We cannot worship God truly without an offering. A small heart and a large bank account will never enter Heaven. The widow's mite was only two pence; but it was all she had. Perhaps some people think they are giving the widow's mite when they drop a penny into the missionary collection. So it is if that is all your living; but if it is the least possible coin you can find among the larger coin in the purse, then it is far from the widow's mite. You are to lay aside each week as the Lord has prospered you, and to give of that which the Lord has given you, to send missionaries to the heathen at home and abroad.—Selected.

THE COST OF MISSIONS.

"SEE," says an objector, "what missions cost, and how little there is to show!" How much has been spent, for instance, in evangelizing the Zulus! Well, how much? Not one-half, possibly not one-tenth, of what the "Zulu war" of 1879-80 cost. How much in Christianizing the island of Hawaii? Not so much, we are told, as the expedition of Commodore Wilkes in the Pacific. One has well observed: "The cheapest enginery the world has ever seen is the missionary," and he added, "I know not which more to admire, the feebleness of the instrumentality, or the matchless and fructifying power of God." Those who find fault with missions on account of apparently meagre results appear to me to put a low estimate on the value of the human soul. Said the Rev. Dr. Griffin, sixty years ago: "Were there but one heathen in the world, and he in the remotest corner of Asia, did no greater duty confine us at home, it would be worth the pains for all America to embark together to carry the Gospel to him." Such in the opinion of that man of God is the worth of the soul of a single heathen, and can we contemplate, without the deepest emotion, the sad truth that hundreds of millions in heathendom are passing into eternity untaught, unsanctified? Shall they be allowed to die in ignorance of the Saviour?—The Rev. J. Tyler.

VICTORY TO THE LORD JESUS.

THE Bishop of Lahore, at a recent meeting in India, referred to the noble work opening in Kashmir. He said that many converts had recently been gathered in, and all over the district congregations of seventy or eighty met in the simplest of little churches for worship. These churches had not cost more than a rupee per sitting, if he might use that term, for, with the exception of the Bishop, for whom, in consideration of his infirmities, a chair was provided, sittings there were none; the people all sat on the ground. The simple service was conducted and joined in with great fervor, and his heart was much touched by a beautiful custom they had of repeating Jai Prabhu Yesu ("Victory to the Lord Jesus") as they rose at the conclusion of their service.

CHRISTIANITY AND CHINA.

At the conclusion of a recent address upon the three religions of China before the American Society of Comparative Religion, in New York city, the Rev. Dr. Martin, president of the imperial Tungwen college at Peking, said: "Each of the previous religions was ushered in by a felt want. Christianity alone can supply the defects of all the systems and present one harmonious unity. If I were to express in one word what Christianity is to confer upon China, it would be this: Not a God seated far away, upon some remote Olympus, as in the Confucian system; not a God inherent in matter, as in the Taoist system; not a God, as in the Buddhist system, who has risen from the ranks of the disciples of virtue, a mere deified man, but God the Spirit of the universe, in Christ Jesus, coming into the human soul, taking up His abode there and working by His Holy Spirit a regenerating influence such as none of these creeds has ever possessed, and of which they have presented only a faint and dim prophecy. This I believe to be the mission of Christianity, and I believe the Chinese, though it may be unconsciously, are waiting for it and reaching out after it."

CONVERSION OF A JAPANESE LADY.

THE Rev. J. F. Gulick gives the following interesting account of the conversion of a cultured Japanese lady of Osaka: "A missionary physician here had for a patient a lady of some intelligence and culture. He gave her a Testament, which she received politely, as a Japanese lady would surely do; but after looking at it carelessly, she laid it aside. Some weeks later she began to be oppressed with thoughts of her sins; recalling something which the physician had said, she took the book and began reading the first page of Matthew. The more she read, the more deeply interested she became, and could scarcely leave the book until it was finished. Then she said, 'I must read it again, for I cannot take it all in at one reading;' so she read it right through a second time. Then she said, 'I must go to the man who gave me this book. Perhaps he can tell me about these great words of life.' So she started off to find the physician. When she reached his house he was not at home, but his wife was there. The first thing she said to the wife was, 'May I not receive the gift of the Holy Ghost?' Falling on her knees she said, 'Give me the gift of the Holy Ghost, that I may understand these things.' The good woman explained to her that this gift must be received from the Lord. So they read and prayed together until the physician himself returned; then the three talked and prayed together.

"Meanwhile the husband missed his wife, and as she had said something about going to the physician, he sought and found her there, and they all remained into the morning hours before they returned home. That woman is now an earnest Christian, carrying the light to all around her."

HE CAN IF HE WILL.

ANY pastor who has influence enough with his church to be of any service to them in any other line of Christian work can, if he be so disposed, secure the adoption of some plan of benevolence that will be both helpful to the church and to missions. It is not that the churches, even the smallest and poorest, as a rule, are not willing to contribute to these causes, that so large a number give nothing, but it is because they are not informed as to the necessity and given the opportunity. If the pastor is himself interested and informed, he will find a way to interest and inform his people.—Missionary Herald.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE INDIANS.

THE Rev. Thomas L. Riggs, a missionary among the Indians, says of them: "They lack confidence in the promises and sympathy of the government, but they have been taught to respect its ability to compel them to keep their promises." It would be well if by "the uprising of a great people," as Bishop Hare puts it, or an aroused public sentiment, the government could be compelled to keep its promises to the Indians. "We have taught the Indian to distrust us," said General Grant, and this teaching is not ended yet, as Mr. Herbert Welsh shows in Scribner's Magazine for April.

A GRAND REVOLUTION.

A VERY significant legal decision has been rendered in India. A minor was baptized by the Rev. Henry Forman. Afterward the boy returned to his relatives, and was so outrageously treated that he abandoned his home and friends. A brother put in a claim for guardianship, the father being incapacitated, and demanded that the boy should be remanded to him. This brought the matter up in the court, and was finally appealed to the supreme court of India. The decision was reached by the full bench, one of whom was Justice Mahamud. His decision was based upon the intelligence of the boy. The decision was that in all cases where there was an intelligent acceptance of the truth, his baptism would be recognized by law. This is a revolution, and the missionaries are rejoicing. For this they have been praying for years, as they were always in danger of being charged with kidnapping when they baptized a native child.—Herald and Presbyter.

THE COMMAND.

To you, dear reader, and to me, the command is, go, teach, preach. If you cannot go, send some one. If you cannot preach, support one who can. The Church demands this of every member. Human needs demand it. Your solemn pledge at God's altar demands it. God demands it. God will hold you responsible for your share in evangelizing your fellow-men. Will you do your duty? This is the question of the hour.—S. Z. B.

A PRAYING INDIAN GIRL.

Mrs. Young, the wife of the Bishop of Athabasca, in a recent letter makes the following mention of one of the Christian Indians: "A wild Indian girl once tried to frighten a younger one by pointing to her shadow, and saying, 'We have something like that in us that will live for ever!'

"Though she only meant to tease, God used the words to show the child that she had a soul to be saved. She could never rest after this until she found a teacher. She has told me that she used to go away alone into the bushes, and cry out to the Good Spirit to help her.

"God heard her prayer, and sent some one to teach her. She gave herself to the Lord Jesus, and has followed Him now for forty years. Whenever her heart is sad and heavy she leaves her work, goes alone, falls down on her knees, and tells the Lord Jesus."

FRAGMENTS.

—The Rev. John P. Williamson states that out of 1,100 Presbyterian communicants among the Sioux Indians he knows of none who were among the hostiles.

—England proudly boasts that the sun never sets on her dominions. The United States may say as much, for when the sun sets in Alaska it is an hour high in Maine.

—The income of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel during the last financial year was larger by $196,700 than ever before. More than 11,000 missionary boxes were issued during the year.

—Li Hung Chang, the powerful Chinese viceroy, has written a preface to a medical work by the Rev. S. A. D. Hunter, M.D., so giving the sanction of his name to foreign therapeutics and medical missionary work.

—They who think any race of the heathen cannot be converted and civilized are referred to Cicero's advice to the general to make slaves of all prisoners except the British. They were too lazy and illiterate to be of any use.

—The memory of the martyred Bishop Hannington of eastern equatorial Africa is to be perpetuated in his own university. A committee has been formed at Oxford to raise funds for a Hannington memorial hall. Already large sums of money are promised.

—On his return from England to south Africa, Archdeacon Gibson left behind him a book describing his "Eight Years in Kaffraria." Of this the Mission Field says: "It is a valuable contribution towards the contemporary history of missions, throwing light upon one of the most fascinating parts of the missionary enterprise of this century."

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

ROOM 21, BIBLE HOUSE, NEW YORK,

MISS JULIA C. EMERY, Secretary.

OUR PART IN THE SLOWNESS OF MISSIONARY PROGRESS.

CONSIDER in this connection the comparatively slow progress of Christianity in modern times compared with its rapid propagation during the first few centuries of its existence. Christianity has now been in the world for nearly nineteen centuries, yet the majority of mankind are still outside its pale. In the dawn of its career the Faith of Christ carried all before it. The philosophy of Greece and the statecraft and legions of imperial Rome were alike powerless to arrest its progress. It penetrated like an epidemic into the hut of the savage and the palace of the Cæsars, and led captive Jew and Gentile, Greek and barbarian, bond and free. What has the Christian Church done in comparison with this during the last few centuries? On a fair balance of its gains and losses, must it not be sorrowfully owned that it has done little more than hold its own? And what is the explanation? Partly the indolence and selfishness of man, and the decay of that enthusiasm of humanity, radiant with Divine love, which extorted from the heathen in ancient days the tribute of reluctant admiration; and partly the humiliating fact that Christians have turned against each other the arms which they should have employed in extending the frontiers of their Master's kingdom.

In other words, the purposes of God are so far baffled because He has entrusted the execution of them to the ministry of a fallible and selfish race. But can there be anything more mysterious? Why is God's will thus dependent on the will of man? Why has He not written His Name, His attributes, His message, in characters of light upon the sky, so that all men might see and understand? Because the perfection which comes from development through moral discipline is not attainable in that way; and also because God's method of curing us of our selfishness is to make us necessary to each other.—Canon MacColl in "Christianity in relation to Science and Morals."

HINTS FROM NEBRASKA.

WE are glad to print in this number a portion of a paper prepared for the semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska Branch of the Auxiliary, and read in Trinity Cathedral, Omaha, January 29th, 1891.

"The question then seems to be, How can we best arouse interest in missionary work?

"If we were better informed, we should probably be more interested, for we often hear people say, 'I want to send my money where I know it will do good.'

"Shall we wait for some one to inform us, or shall we exert ourselves to gain the necessary information? One says, 'Ask the clergyman to preach a sermon upon missionary work'; another says, 'Spend an hour each Sunday, looking up the subject,' etc., etc. Would it so very much matter what method was used, so long as we were trying to use regularly some means of gaining a fuller knowledge of the subject? Some seem to think that missionary work should be confined to the old ladies. Not at all. There is no Sunday-school child so young that he cannot be taught to do his share intelligently, and the young ladies can give their time and work, whether they give money or not, and numbers create enthusiasm undoubtedly; so the more workers we have, be they young or old, the better will our society thrive.

"After the interest is aroused, what is the best method to raise money? There are many ways used and different opinions concerning these ways, but I have seen one method used most successfully, and I should rejoice to see it adopted universally over the diocese, by the ladies. Instead of fairs, sales, suppers, concerts, sociables and other kinds of festivals, and to prevent constant solicitation, two of our members go the first of January to all of the other members and obtain subscriptions from them, to be paid monthly, in advance, until the next January. These amounts range from twenty-five cents to two or three dollars per month, and are collected the first of each month just as carefully as a merchant collects his bills. We find quite a difference in collecting on the first and on the third, fourth or fifth of the month. In this way it is easy to say what shall be pledged at the council in the spring, and it saves an endless amount of worry and bother.

"Suppose that our 240 members could average one dollar a month, we should be able to give nearly $3,000 per year, and if we could double the number of our members, what a showing we should have. Is not some such plan feasible? If this is undertaken, of course the members are not to be asked for anything else, excepting when there are to be lunches, teas or sociables where food is to be provided, but then it should be understood that there is to be no collection, that hospitality is free. We should always have means on hand, with which to respond to any calls made upon us.

"In order to make each parish society a successful organization, it is necessary to have some one who is acquainted in the parish and who is capable and interested at the head of the society. I believe in system, not red tape, but a regular, ordinary way of conducting things; and systematic management is just as necessary in conducting a Woman's Auxiliary meeting as it is in housekeeping. At the weekly meetings there should always be sewing prepared, for the ladies will be more regular in their attendance if there is always something to do. We can always find work where there are boy choirs, or if we want something else, five dollars will purchase material for a set of Communion linen which is always in demand in the missions and parishes, or we can hem table linen and bed linen for boxes, etc., etc. There should be a business meeting once a month, at which time it is proper that the sewing should be laid aside until after the business is completed. At each meeting it would be pleasant and profitable to have some information on missionary work given in an informal manner.

"The order of exercises would then read something like this:

"Opening service.

"Roll call.

"Secretary's report.

"Treasurer's report.

"Unfinished business.

"New business.

"General information.

"We have made a good beginning for missionary work in Nebraska and some of our organizations are doing splendidly, but we need to increase the membership.

"A hard year is probably before us, as the weather was not good for the crops upon which we must depend. Let us practice self-denial, and let us work together faithfully and constantly, hoping that the mites we are able to give may provide bodily and spiritual comfort to others in this world and be treasures laid up in Heaven for ourselves."

CHINA.

A CHAPEL AND SCHOOL-ROOM AND NEW DAY-SCHOOL IN WUCHANG.

MR. PARTRIDGE writes from Wuchang on the second of March, asking for chapel and school-room furnishings, and means to start a new day-school in Wuchang. The very modest sums he names for these purposes should be given without delay, and already a children's society in St. George's Parish New York, have provided what is required for the school-room.

"Dr. Langford in a recent letter suggests that you may be able to interest the ladies to help me about furnishing our school here. He asks me to state definitely what is needed. So I send a few notes.

"In the first place, we need everything for our chapel, i. e., benches, kneeling mats, prayer desks, lectern, candlesticks and a baby organ. All these we can procure here, good enough for our purpose, for twenty-five dollars without the organ, which is about some twenty-five or thirty dollars more. Then for my office or school-room I need a desk, four small tables, eight Chinese chairs and scholars' benches, which will take, including incidentals, twenty-five dollars more. Then we are sorely in need of maps for the wall. Almost anything will be acceptable. The Modern World for the Bishop Boone school and the Ancient World for the Divinity School, a map of the United States, a map of Palestine, and a map of the Roman Empire. The hemispheres and globes we already have.

"We have just opened St. Augustine's day-school outside the city, a venture of faith which we believe will be deeply blessed. It cost twenty dollars to furnish it. Will some kind friend give that? Then I wish to fit up a chapel in the loft, but that will come later on. I have never forgotten your kind assistance in the matter of St. Stephen's clergy-houses, and I can only say that our present needs are just as pressing.

"Above all, however, we need men and women here. We are reduced almost to the last extremity. At present, I am entirely alone, as the Bishop is away for two weeks. I try not to worry about it, but the thought of our helplessness is crushing. So much to be done! So few to do it!"

A GIRLS' DAY-SCHOOL AT I-CHANG.

From I-chang, five hundred miles above Wuchang, Mrs. Sowerby writes, March 14th, of the work which, under so many difficulties, she is trying to carry on among the women and girls. From her lonely and isolated station she appeals to us for the small sum of $300 to put up a school-building for the girls, and forty or fifty dollars with which to buy school materials. We have great pleasure in stating that a generous response has already been given to this appeal through the Auxiliary in Wilmington, East Carolina, where, at a meeting held on May 19th, the need was presented to them. Some $250 more are still needed, and we trust some Branch of the Auxiliary or individual members may hasten to supplement this welcome gift from East Carolina, and cheer Mrs. Sowerby with the comfort of needed help promptly bestowed.

"I will first thank you for your very kind letter and also for the pretty Christmas book. My excuse for not answering your letter till now is a sick house since last October. We at one time thought we should have no Christmas at all, as we heard that the two steamers had stuck on the sand-banks, but fortunately they were able to get off and up to I-chang for Christmas. They brought up our English mail with Christmas home cards and a parcel of clothes for the children, and lots of good things from the steamer's captain and officers. So among them all, they had their stockings well filled, as here, even if one had the money, nothing in that way could be bought. We used to think Wuchang bad enough, but this is past all places for getting nothing.

"Now it is cold weather; we now and then get a piece of beef off the steamer from Hankow, a distance of 400 miles, but if the steamer sticks, they eat it up for themselves. Just now we do not know what to do for milk. A case has been lying at Hankow for some weeks, as there is no direct booking through to I-chang, but unless some one is kind enough to rebook it up here, it will stay down there for ever. Captain Grayson of the 'Kiang-Tong' has kindly said he will see after it this next trip down river, but it will be two or three weeks before he gets up here again.

"Now as to the women's work in I-chang. I have not written before, as you get all the principal news from Mr. Sowerby's letters, but I will try to give you some idea of our women here, as I know you will be interested in that. In the first place my hands have been tied, first, with no Bible-woman; secondly, with Wu-Sien-Sing's death from black small-pox. Although even now I have no Bible-woman, my Amah is a great help, and so is her daughter Yü-ing. This Amah, before I left Wuchang for England, was my Jane Bohlen girls' cook. Yü-ing was the first girl in the day school there, and afterwards the first girl in the Jane Bohlen school. Mr. Sowerby brought them up here on his return from Wuchang last August. Yü-ing stayed here in my house until the week before Christmas, when she was married to one of Mr. Sowerby's students, who was one of his own Bishop Boone boys. I think they are well matched, at least I think Tso-Juan-Yü has the best of the bargain, as Yü-ing is pretty, can cook and teach, and is clever with her needle.

"We have now opened a girl's day-school with her for a teacher. We have had one room at the hall white-washed. It is so awkward, as Mr. Sowerby is obliged to have his boys there, and it does not do to have boys and girls together, if it can possibly be helped. They are as far apart as we can get them, the boys to the front of the house and the girls to the back. We shall need your help badly, and others as well, to get money enough to build on our own piece of ground a school-house, so that I shall be able at any time to run in and see how things are going on. If this school turns out well, no one need be discouraged at the Bohlen school, as my aim, when I had it, was to teach the girls domestic duties and not so much science, so that they would be of use to keep their own homes nice, and, if need be, to be able to turn out as Bible-women and school-teachers. This Yü-ing is the first girl who has been able to do this work out of the several who have left the school to be married during these last three years. So I hope you and the numerous ladies you know will be able to encourage her, and to furnish the means for a good school-house.

"It may be some time before the ladies of the Auxiliary can give us the money—$300 in gold—but I should be glad of a special of forty or fifty dollars, to buy needful things to get along with now, such as slates, pencils, books, cloth and working materials. For there is nothing so bad as a drag in the work; it seems as if no one were taking an interest in them.

"Besides all this, I shall need two Bible-women, if anything is to be done here. One for our hall in the city, and one for our outside work. These I must have, or I shall not be able to do much, as I shall have plenty of women to come to our new ground.

"Also I may as well ask you now to be early in the field, for a lot of things or a special to get them with for next Christmas, as we shall have a large gathering of children. Mr. Sowerby has twenty-four in his boys' school, and I ten girls; I could take as many more, but have neither the room nor the funds.

"I will now finish this, as you will be tired of hearing of my wants, but before I close I will tell you that at Thursday's woman's Bible-class there were over thirty women, so that is encouraging, and if things keep as they are now, we shall have to have on Sundays a service for women and a service for men, as our room at the hall is too small. What I have asked for is with the Bishop's consent when he was here last October."

Mr. Sowerby adds, on Monday, the 30th:

"P. S.—Easter Day I baptized six men, five women and three children, making a total for I-chang of forty-seven. Since my return from England by coming to I-chang we have raised the out-station at Sahoge from sixteen to fifty-eight, which, with the above forty-seven, makes one hundred and five, an addition of eighty-nine in two and a half years. Surely this ought to justify our having left Wuchang to Mr. Graves and Mr. Partridge and coming up here to I-chang."

AFRICA.

MRS. BRIERLEY writes on March 10th, from Cape Mount:—

"I am so hoping to have a few lines from Mr. Kimber respecting our new teacher, Miss Nicol. The rains will soon be here when it will be impossible for her to come, and I pray the dear Lord not to let me pass such a season as last year. So I have sent her $50 for her outfit and traveling expenses, I may say, in faith, feeling sure the Church in America will help. She was educated in England so I do not see how she can do with less than $250 per annum; everything is so exorbitant in price here, owing chiefly to the transmission of goods and the high tariff."

Offerings are asked to sustain missions in thirteen missionary jurisdictions and thirty-four dioceses, also among the Indians and among the Colored People in our land, as well as missions in China, Japan, Africa, Haiti and Greece—to pay the salaries of sixteen Bishops and stipends to 1,000 missionary workers, and to support schools, hospitals and orphanages. $500,000 are asked for this year.

All things come of Thee, O Lord,
And of Thine own have we given Thee.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

OF THE DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

With all remittances the name of the Diocese and Parish should be given. Remittances, when practicable, should be by Check or Draft, and should always be made payable to the order of GEORGE BLISS, Treasurer, and sent to him, 22 Bible House, New York. Remittances in Bank Notes are not safe unless sent in REGISTERED Letters.

The items in the following table marked "Sp." are Specials, which do not aid the Board in meeting its appropriations. Wherever the abbreviation "Wo. Aux." precedes the amount, the offering is through a branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The Treasurer acknowledges the receipt of the following sums from April 1st, to May 1st, 1891.

CHARACTER OF OUR MEN.

The Society has sent into the Ministry over 400 men. With rare exceptions they are doing efficient work in the Ministry. Many of them already occupy posts of large influence. Some are Bishops. Six are professors in Theological Seminaries. Several are eminent missionaries. A number are rectors of leading city parishes. Indeed, they are earnestly sought for, and gladly received wherever they go, and, as a rule, they are an honor to the Ministry and to the Church.

CONCLUSIVE TESTIMONY.

We select a few reports from Bishops who have charge of the larger portion of our graduates, Bishops who represent widely separate sections of the country and various schools of churchmanship.

BISHOP CLARK, of Rhode Island, says: "They are regarded by us all as men of the highest ability, and they have all been most active and useful laborers here. They have exercised their Ministry to the glory of God and the edification of His Church."

BISHOP PINKNEY, of Maryland, writes: "All of them stand high in the list of clergy. Most, if not all of them, give promise of distinction in after life. They are Presbyters of whom any Diocese might be proud."

BISHOP CLARKSON, of Nebraska, writes: "As good men as we have in the West for zeal, piety, efficiency and usefulness."

BISHOP VAIL, of Kansas, writes: "Capital, excellent, faithful and true. Above the average."

BISHOP WHITAKER, of Nevada, writes: "I am certain that the average ability, fidelity and fitness for usefulness of these men is higher than the average of the same qualities in any Diocese in which I am acquainted. I only wish that the whole body of the clergy could become as good."

OUR POSITION.

We would by no means lift every burden from the student's back, or remove every obstacle out of his way; but merely spare him that labor and effort which weaken both mind and body.
